Product description

This left side fender is specifically designed for the Porsche 911 model 991, particularly the "911R" variant. Crafted from high-quality carbon fiber, this fender not only enhances the aesthetic appeal of your vehicle but also contributes to its overall performance by reducing weight. The use of carbon fiber ensures increased strength and durability, making it a superior choice for both replacement and upgrade purposes.

The fender is a genuine Porsche original part, ensuring perfect compatibility and performance. It comes with OEM numbers 991503031A3G2X and 991503031A3GRV, confirming its authenticity and ease of reference for matching exact part requirements. This product is brand new, unused, and undamaged, guaranteeing top quality and satisfaction.

Ideal for Porsche enthusiasts looking to maintain or enhance their vehicle's performance and appearance, this fender combines both functionality and elegance, adhering to the high standards expected from Porsche components. Whether you're restoring a 911R or simply upgrading your 991 model, this carbon fiber fender is an excellent choice that promises to meet the exacting specifications of your luxury sports car.
