Product description

The GT3 engine cover for the Porsche 911 series 996.1, model year 2000, is a high-quality original part from Porsche, identified by its OEM number 99651290191G2X-001. This guarantees high quality and a perfect fit, which is particularly important for maintaining the originality and functionality of your vehicle.

The product is used but in very good condition and shows no signs of damage. This is essential for maintaining the aesthetics of your Porsche. Another advantage of this engine cover is that it is supplied without a rear spoiler. This offers the advantage that you can make the rear of your vehicle less conspicuous or modify the cover according to your own ideas.

This engine cover is ideal for owners of a Porsche 911 from the 996 model series who want to replace a damaged or worn original cover. It is also ideal for car enthusiasts who value original parts that not only guarantee the perfect appearance of their vehicle, but also its reliability.

In summary, the Porsche 911 996.1 GT3 engine cover, model 2000, without rear wing, is an excellent choice for anyone who values quality, originality and understated vehicle aesthetics.
