Product description

This high-quality turbocharger, specially designed for the Porsche 911 model 992, is an essential component for the S and GTS models, specifically for cylinders 1 to 3. The OEM number for this part is 0PB145701R, which confirms its authenticity and compatibility with the corresponding vehicle models.

The turbocharger is used but in very good condition and undamaged. As an original Porsche part, it guarantees an optimal fit and performance that meets Porsche's high standards. This component is crucial for engine performance as it improves the efficiency and responsiveness of the engine by increasing the air supply, resulting in increased power and a better driving experience.

Installing an original Porsche turbocharger ensures that the engine performance of your Porsche 911 model 992 remains at the highest level and the reliability of the vehicle is maintained. This part is an excellent choice for owners who want to maintain or improve the performance of their vehicle without compromising on the quality and originality of the components.
